

Rachel Orkin-Ramey - Bio

Rachel Orkin-Ramey is Business Director of Asian Art at Christie's Auctions & Private Sales. With a BA from Amherst College and an MA from the Courtauld Institute of Art, London, she began her career in the auction world in 2004 at Christie's and has remained with the company since then, working in both the UK and New York. Highlights of Rachel's career at Christie's include the record-breaking Asian Art Week auction in March 2011 that achieved $118 million in sales and working on Christie's first ever auctions in Mumbai, Shanghai, and online. As an auctioneer, Rachel Orkin-Ramey set the world-record with a sale of $94,000 for a bottle of extremely rare Glenfiddich whiskey, the proceeds going towards SHFT Initiatives, a charity dedicated to sustainability causes.